

"A must-read for anyone who cares about the quality of food and the welfare of animals."

—MARK BITTMAN,
author of How to Cook Everything

BIG CHICKEN

The Incredible Story of How Antibiotics Created Modern Agriculture and Changed the Way the World Eats

MARYN MCKENNA

Maryn McKenna

October 17, 2017

Maryn McKenna is an award-winning journalist who specializes in public and global health. She is the author of Big Chicken (titled Plucked in the United Kingdom and elsewhere), the first book-length exploration of global antibiotic use in agriculture; Superbug, a narrative history of the emergence of antibiotic resistance worldwide; and Beating Back the Devil, an account of a year embedded with the CDC's Epidemic Intelligence Service. She writes for the New York Times Magazine, National Geographic, Newsweek and other magazines and is a Senior Fellow of the Schuster Institute for Investigative Journalism at Brandeis University. Her 2015 TED Talk, "What do we do when antibiotics don't work anymore?", has been viewed 1.5 million times.

Reserve a free ticket for a special lecture:
<https://goo.gl/AdmeyY>

1557 Dickey Dr., Atlanta, GA 30322
Anthropology Building Room 303

6:00 PM Lecture

7:00 PM Reception & Book Signing

EMORY

